Consultant

ABOUT MEGHA

Megha is a versatile business professional possessing a strong combination of accounting, technology, and customer service skills. With a master's degree in business administration and over 15 years of experience in both public accounting and private industry, Megha provides valuable services to her clients by drawing upon knowledge gained from both hands-on and supervisory roles held throughout her career.

Experienced with accounting standards applicable in the United States and India, she has performed government and statutory audits, branch accounting, cash management functions, lease data extractions, and foreign currency transactions. Megha is proficient in account research and reconciliations, general ledger maintenance, and the periodic closing process. Additionally, she is very capable of interviewing personnel and documenting procedures to create resources for use to ensure compliance with best practice policies.

Megha utilizes her keen interest in technology to maximize the capabilities of various software tools and to efficiently gather, analyze, and report pertinent data for use by internal management and external customers alike. She has experience in SAP, Hyperion, Microsoft Dynamics, and Oracle Cloud, and has also served in the administrator role as part of a Blackline system implementation project.

Megha understands how to execute tasks within the parameters of structured operating models to ensure the highest levels of value are delivered both inside and outside of the organization. She is also adept at implementing and achieving compliance with proven quality control and customer service standards. Clients appreciate Megha's ability to use her excellent interpersonal and analytical skills to solve problems while demonstrating professional courtesy and attaining organizational goals.
